

Lecture Summary

The speaker bluntly admits their live audience matters less than online views for wider impact. They criticize focusing on immediate listeners instead of the easily-distracted internet audience. Acknowledging dwindling attention spans, they advocate for concise presentations and humorous content to capture online attention. Eureka.